Shetland Pony, Carnival Prize, Now On Display

Youngsters Gather Round Its
Corral in Grand Union Lot;
Offer of $100 Received.

A handsome Shetland pony arrived in town last week and will be raffled, along with saddle and bridle, by the Coleman Curling Club at a carnival on Saturday and Monday, Sept. 23 and 25.

A corral has been built towards the front of the Grand Union parking lot and many youngsters are to be seen hanging on to the boards and clapping the head of the handsome little beast. It has become quite a favorite and is being fed many delicacies by its admirers.

Tickets are now selling for the two major prizes, a $100 bond for the Saturday night draw and the pony and equipment for Monday's draw.

Youths and young girls wishing to earn a few dollars can easily do so by selling tickets for the two major prizes. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the three highest ticket sellers providing there are more than three in the ticket selling race. In addition there are two free tickets in each book which the seller can either keep or sell and pocket the additional money.

Books of tickets can be secured from secretary A. Balloch, and the ticket seller's name then can be entered in the competition for the $15, $10 and $5 prizes.

A Pass citizen has offered $100 for the pony. Other bids will be accepted by the carnival committee on the pony. Should someone win the pony, who does not want to keep it, he then can sell to whoever makes the best bid prior to the carnival.

New Curling Arena Site Now A Busy Place Each Evening

Men Required For Many Jobs;
Start Work to Demolish Old
Curling Arena.

Now that the spade work has practically been completed at the new curling site, construction appears to be moving along at a faster pace. More men are making their appearance nightly and are assigned to many various jobs. Work started on Monday evening to demolish the old curling arena, lumber from which will be used in the construction of the new arena.

Despite the fact that a few more men are starting to work, there is great need for many more men. It is a large project and requires many willing hands before the project will be completed.

Those men expecting to curl in a new arena this winter better lead a hand. Men good with a saw, hammer, etc., and who wish to give a helping hand will be made welcome by construction superintendent Andy Dow.

Joe Citizen Says

I guess we folks right here don't know what war is really like although for every life in battle lost folks left behind must pay the cost. It's sad for all the little lads now growing up without their dads. And who can tell what tragic thoughts haunt wounded soldiers in their cots?

But what I mean to say is this—The war is quite a lot of war we miss, like hunger, bombs and refugees, and black-outs and such things as these.

There isn't a more favored land than this the one where now we stand. So lucky folks like me—and you!—should need no coaxing ballyhoo to dig up every cent we own and help put over this new loan. An easy way you must admit for such as us to do our bit!

STOKER TOM FLYNN HOME ON FURLOUGH

Stoker Tom Flynn arrived home on furlough last Friday and is spending a well earned rest at his home here.

He took part in the invasion of Normandy and his boat patrolled the Channel for eighteen full days, taking part in the historic events that saw successful invasion of Hitler's Europe. He states he saw Tony Petrosky in Ireland and Joe DeLuca in Scotland.

Native Son of Coleman Killed in France

Terry Cosgriff Killed Aug. 1;
Mother Was Former Local School Teacher.

Word was received by Mrs. J. A. McDonald last week that Terry Cosgriff had been killed in action in France on Tuesday, Aug. 1. He was born in Coleman 21 years ago, his parents residing in Carbondale, and they still no doubt are remembered by many here. His mother, the former Jessie McKay, taught school here for some years and was also at one time on the International office staff. His father was prominent in local hockey and baseball circles.

Terry was only one year old when his parents took up residence at Rossland, B.C., and from there to Kellogg, Idaho, where they have resided for many years.

He was attending Gonzaga university at Spokane, when Corps he enlisted in the Army Air Corps last fall. He is survived by his parents and one sister, Louise.

Friends and acquaintances extend sincere sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

JEAN CLAES SERIOUSLY INJURED AT COAST

Jean Claes, former Coleman oil timer who moved to the Pacific coast with Mrs. Claes two years ago, suffered serious injury while at work last week in a peat plant.

It appears a belt broke and in an effort to escape it he fell heavily to the floor. In falling he injured himself seriously and had to be taken to a New Westminster hospital, where he is at present.

His son Henry left here last week to visit him and returned home Tuesday afternoon. He states his father expects to be out of hospital this week end.

Mr. Claes had to leave Coleman for reasons of health and up to the time of his accident he and his wife had greatly improved in health and had been enjoying life to the full in the more moderate climate.

To Reveal Chest Contents Soon

The closing date for the Navy League membership drive was set for early October and the date for disclosure of the mysterious Treasury Chest contents for early September at a meeting of the league campaign committee Tuesday night.

"The Navy League is like the Navy," E. T. Critchley, chairman of the campaign committee, declared. "We want action. People know the good work the Navy League is carrying on for our seamen, and they will support it. We will have our membership increase and be out of these offices in time to let the Victory Loan committee in."

The Navy League campaign headquarters are located in the offices used by the Victory Loan headquarters at 307 7th Ave. W., Calgary.

The $10,000 which will accompany the Treasury Chest as first prize in the Navy League drawing will be a Victory Bond of the Victory Loan campaign which will open immediately after the campaign is concluded.

Tickets can be secured in Coleman from any store or from A. Balloch, local committee chairman, at The Journal office.

A Trip To The Pacific Coast

(By Miss A. Salus)

Editor's Note: Following is a story by The Journal's East Coleman correspondent, Miss Anne Salus, on her first visit to the Pacific coast. Like many others she has fallen in love with the scenic grandeur of the Pacific and The Journal takes pleasure in publishing her story.

Ocean Activity! Vast buildings! were the main attractions as I came into contact with the city of Vancouver. The train ride from Coleman to Vancouver was long and seemed endless, but evidently it was endurable and most enjoyable due to the fact that I met some very fine and respectable people who accompanied me on my trip. As a remembrance of the train ride I donated my autograph to all those whom I met and received many in return. Two stenographers travelling from Penitence to Vancouver wrote, "Enjoyed the sleepless nights with you, spiced with plenty of soot from the CPR train."

The scenery throughout the whole journey was extremely beautiful, magnificently drawn to perfection. The Kootenay Lake defied comparison with any lake I have ever seen. It is also one of the most widely known lakes in the world. Mountains surrounding this glorious lake were tinted a delicate blue and with the sun's rays reflecting on the water it revealed a sight so extraordinarily appealing it dazzled one's senses. The Kootenay Power plants were marvellous and exceedingly well constructed, so that all passers by gazed with admiration and wonderment.

Upon entering the station I felt lost and desolate as I knew not a soul in all the crowd on the platform. As I ascended the escalator leading from the platform to the waiting rooms on street level, I was greeted by Mr. Leo Hagel, who had come to meet me. Formerly a Coleman resident, Mr. Hagel worked at Sentinel Motors before coming to British Columbia. We went to the residence of Mrs. W. Frost, nee Lena Janak, where I met Mrs. Janak and her daughter Adella, Mrs. Hagel, Joe Lloyd and Mike Kipta, all formerly of Coleman.

The same day I travelled from Vancouver to Nanaimo with the Hagels, and the boat trip on the Princess Elaine was superb. We stood on deck watching Vancouver vanish in the distance and water close in around us.

Numberless sea gulls resembling soft snow flakes floating in mid air swayed gently past us, some sighting contentedly, others plunging downward miraculously close to the bed of salty water known as the Pacific Ocean. The day was warm despite a cool breeze, and the boat sailed smoothly on, leaving only the hush of the sea in its wake.

Nanaimo is a fair-sized town. The buildings are not as huge as those of Vancouver, yet much beauty lies in Nanaimo.

While shopping one day I bumped into Mrs. Tom Goldring and she was very pleased to see me. She sends her best regards to all her Coleman friends.

I went to the Military Hospital to see Second Lieutenant Mary Ankers, who is stationed there. She was very nice to me, showing me around the hospital.

I met my cousin, Catherine Gorka, who is in the CWAC, and she took me to visit the Officers' Mess, where she is a waitress. I met several of the officers: Captain Taylor, Lieutenant Moffat, Captain Laird, and a couple of sergeants. They had a party to which I was invited, and everyone was so pleasant that I enjoyed myself thoroughly.

I also met Betty Starr, of Fernie, who is now in the CWAC, and she knows Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, she sends her regards to them. I met Lance Corporal Jack Satchel and Pte. Nora Satchel, who wrote the following in my autograph: "Every time you think of the kitchen of the Officers' Mess you'll remember us."

I attended the Catholic church in Nanaimo and found it a marvelously beautiful building.

Swimming at the beach was exciting and thrilling. It was amazing to watch the tides coming in and going out as though at the will of some powerful magic. Boats, canoes and ferries could be seen from every angle, on the surface of the water.

The rain there is but a slight drizzle, and though the sky may be cloudy in the morning, the sun is usually out by noon.

Rev. Father Alex. McDonald, of Ladysmith, a nephew of Mrs. Jack McDonald, visited the Hagels and I made his acquaintance. He sends greetings to his relatives in Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hagel also send their regards to their Coleman friends. Mr. Hagel now has a garage of his own, Marine Drive Service Station, and is doing a splendid business.

After visiting Nanaimo for over a week, I returned to Vancouver, where I was the guest of Mrs. W. Frost. I visited the Prehistorical Museum, Stanley Park, a veritable paradise, where one of Canada's greatest writers, Pauline Johnson, lies buried. The City Hall, Lion's Gate Bridge, Kitsilano Beach, University of Vancouver, Marine Building, Cenotaph and Victory Square are sights that defy description.

While shopping one morning I met Mrs. J. Hirst, Miss Megan Jones, Mrs. C. Jenkins and Mrs. E. Houghton. A few days later Mrs. Roy Thomas hailed me. It seemed strange meeting someone from Coleman on Main Street where faces are just a blur as they pass. That same day I saw the Danyluk girls.

I phoned Mary Panek, nurse in training at St. Paul's hospital. We tried to arrange a meeting, but were unable to do so, much to our disappointment.

I travelled to Langley Prairie by bus to see my cousin, whom I had not seen for nine years. Mr. and Mrs. Gorkak showed me around their orchard, and it was wonderful to see all the fruit your heart desired right at hand, whereas here we can only admire the luscious fruit through store windows.

The three weeks spent at Vancouver and on the Island are weeks that will never be forgotten, and I hope some day to return to the Pacific coast with all its freshness of climate and splendor of scenery.

Returning home, I travelled with Arnie Gudmundson, RCAF, who had been visiting his brother in Vancouver; Mrs. A. Fauville and daughter, Mrs. Joe Cartwright (nee Joe Rose), Mrs. Tom Rose, Mrs. B. Hirst and children and Mrs. F. Hirst and son.

On our way home we passed Kettle Valley at about ten in the morning. The valley is hundreds of feet below the railroad tracks.

The train stopped five hours at Nelson and while there I met Mrs. R. Jackson, Hughie McLellan and Gordon Roper.

This proves that no matter in what part of the country you are you're bound to meet someone from Coleman.

NEW CAMP AT WATERTON A SUCCESS

The Senior CGIT girls, Anna and Della McQuarrie, Iris Garrett and Kathy Cettily, returned last Thursday from the camp at Waterton. This is the first year the camp has been in operation, and altogether eighteen young people from Coleman took advantage of this Youth Camp of the Lethbridge Presbytery throughout the season.

All report a marvelous time, with a grand cook in attendance—pancakes and syrup for breakfast no less. The senior girls were least fortunate as far as the weather was concerned, but even so, they hated to see it close and are looking forward to next season.

MR. AND MRS. SAM MOORES TO RESIDE AT VICTORIA

Sam Moores has made it known that he and Mrs. Moores plan to leave Coleman in the near future and take up residence at Victoria. At the present time he is endeavoring to sell his property.

STOKER TONY COCCIONE HOME ON FURLOUGH

Stoker Tony Coccione arrived home Tuesday morning on furlough, after many months in action overseas. Tony took part in the exciting battle of the Scharnhorst, which was sunk in the North Sea. He also saw action in the invasion of France, June 6.

Help your country to victory—enlist now!

F. L. W. L. Irving Wins D. F. C.; Coleman's Fourth

Spending Furlough Here With Wife; Honor Won in Overseas
Action With Coastal Patrol.

FL W. J. Irving has brought Coleman its fourth Distinguished Flying Cross. The honor was made known early Tuesday morning and The Journal had the privilege of breaking the pleasant news to the happy airman, who is at present spending a furlough with his wife, the former Gwen Dunlop, at the home of Mrs. Dunlop on Sixth street.

The honor was won while FL Irving was on duty with the Coastal Command while serving overseas; his home base being in Britain. He refused to comment on the action.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Irving, of Brandon, Man. He was born at Brandon and received his education in that city. Ten months prior to enlisting in the RCAF in 1941, he was on the staff of Continental Auto Supply, Calgary. It was while in that city that he met Miss Dunlop, whom he later married in February of 1942.

He received his air force training at Edmonton and Claresholm. In March, 1943, he went overseas, where he was assigned to the Coastal Command. On July 31 of this year he arrived back in New York, and after spending a few days with his parents at Brandon, came west to join his wife. For the past three weeks they have resided at the home of Mrs. H. Dunlop, sp., while FL Irving awaits a new posting.

Salvation Army Home Front Appeal, Sept 18-30

Pass Quota $1200; Coleman
Quota $500; Local Officers
Are Mack Stigler, Chairman,
W. L. Rippon, Treasurer.

The Salvation Army is setting aside 15% of the September 18-30 Home Front appeal for the necessary work of rehabilitation and reconstruction in all its phases.

Rehabilitation—a word of electric significance and import these days. A word which means the binding up of wounds, the reuniting of families, the feeding of millions of homeless and despairing Europeans. It is a word which ushers in the dawn of tomorrow and of all the tomorrows to come.

The Salvation Army is dealing now—here—with the practical immediate problems of the transition from Army to Civilian life. Hostels and reception homes are being established in the large centres.

Through your assistance the Salvation Army Home Front appeal answers the needs of returning warriors, and all needing rehabilitation, and gives them a chance to find a place in the sun and take up the threads of peacetime life once again with courage and hope.

Mack Stigler will once again preside as president of the local organization, with W. L. Rippon as treasurer and A. Balloch in charge of publicity.

Vandals Not Yet Apprehended By Police

Sports Association Will Lay
Charges Against Them For Destruction of Property.

The persons responsible for willfully and maliciously destroying the baseball backstop, property of the Coleman Sports Association, have not yet been apprehended by the police.

President A. A. Fraser, of Coleman Sports Association, has let it be known that his Association will lay a charge against them of willful damage to Association property.

An appeal is made to any citizen knowing the identity of the culprits to inform the police. Local citizens, all of whom are members of the Association and who contributed to the erection of the backstop, demand that the guilty parties be apprehended and an example made of them. Willful destruction of Association property has to be nipped in the bud if sport is to flourish in Coleman.

Theatre Notes

Olsen and Johnson, major funders of stage and screen, are starring in their most lavish movie comedy, "Crazy House," at the Palace theatre at the week end. The Universal funfilm, actually faster and funnier than "Hellzapoppin'" has one of the largest groups of headline entertainers ever assembled for a single movie.

Featured celebrities in the dizzy production include Cass Daley, Martha O'Driscoll, Patric Knowles and Thomas Gomez. Winning special approval are Tony and Sally DeMarco, Count Basie and his orchestra, Marion Hutton and the Glenn Miller Singers, Chandra Daly and his dancers and the Delta Rhythm Boys.

Other contributors to the meritment of "Crazy House" are Leighton Noble and his orchestra, Perry Kilbride, Richard Lane, Billy Gilbert, Edgar Kennedy, Franklin Pangborn and Hans Conried, while guest stars include Allan Jones, Leo Carrillo, Andy Devine, Robert Paige and Alan Curtis. The hilarious film was directed by Edward F. Cline.

COLEMAN SHAMROCKS

The chenille bedspread, raffled by the Shamrocks on Friday, the 18th, was won by Frances Wavrocan with ticket number 232.

The Shamrocks played the first game of the finals against Bellevue in Bellevue, and lost 5 to 4. This was their first defeat, and may it also be their last. Good luck, girls!

Agricultural By-Products

FOR MANY YEARS the people of the Prairie Provinces have been interested in the possibilities of the extensive use of waste products from farm crops for commercial purposes. Considerable research has been done on this subject, and some manufacturing plants have been operated, chiefly for the production of wall board and insulating materials from cereal straws. Waste agricultural products include straws, stems, hulls, weed seeds and similar forms of residue. Much of this material is ordinarily allowed to rot in the fields and then returned to the soil for fertilizer, and this is generally considered a desirable practice. Some waste products are also used for feed and other farm purposes and occasionally they are useful for fuel.

Large Yield Of Cereal Straws

It is estimated that an average of twenty-five million acres of wheat are sown in Canada each year. This acreage yields about twenty million tons of wheat straw, and at the same time, there is an annual yield of about two hundred thousand tons of flax straw. Agriculturists are not in complete agreement as to whether all this straw should be returned to the soil, to help in the prevention of soil drifting, whether there is a sufficient quantity to fully enrich the soil, and at the same time leave a surplus for other purposes. If residues are to be used commercially there are at present some problems which must be overcome in connection with collection and storage. Under existing conditions, considerable expense is required to collect waste materials on the farms and to convey them to assembly points, and means of lowering these costs would have to be a primary consideration in any large project in this connection.

Wastes Put To Practical Use

A large number of commercial uses have been found for agricultural residues, and new discoveries in this field are frequently announced. A good quality of wall board and insulating material are among the most practical articles to be produced, and it would appear that there should be a good market for these materials for farm and urban homes on the prairies. Other products which have been made from waste farm materials include paper, cardboard, commercial twine, heavy types of sack and burlap, and a type of gas suitable for fuel. Scientists and economists have shown considerable interest in the subject of bringing agriculture and industry into close relationship, and we may look for many important developments along these lines in the near future.

Bless Us! It's Blueberry Time

But the season's short, so make the most of it. Come peak o'summer, start a sunny day with a bowlful of sweet little berries topping crisp All Bran - a prize breakfast for good taste—good nutrition, too!

Task Handed Down

Fire Started 150 Years Ago Is Still Kept Burning

William Morris, Saluda, N.C., 84, the man who kept alive for 60 years a fire started by his ancestors 150 years ago in an open fireplace, is dead. A bachelor, he was the last direct descendant of Robert Morris of Philadelphia, who migrated to the Blue Ridge mountains in 1780 and started the blaze that has burned continuously since. Hampton Owens, a nephew now has been left in charge.

Color In Milk

Scientists Say It Is Due To Presence Of Carotene

The so-called "rich" colour of the milk from some breeds of cows is due to the presence of unchanged carotene or Vitamin A, ingested in the feed. The milk of other breeds may be just as rich in this vitamin but the carotene is converted into the colourless Vitamin A, and therefore the colour does not show in the milk. This vitamin is also responsible for the colour of fat on beef steers. The fat on the steers is yellow if they have been finished on grass where they would get plenty carotene, but the fat is white when they have been finished in feedlots on rations containing small amounts of Vitamin A. With regard to egg powder, observations by Canadian Research scientists indicate that Canadian dried egg powders are lighter in colour than those produced in other countries. Such differences are due at least in part to variations in the colour of the liquid egg as a result of different feeding practices in different countries. Also, manufacturing conditions, effect of time and temperature exert some influence in the colour of the product. Canadian egg powder has won the greatest praise in Britain, United States and other countries.

Parachutes require about 150 yards of fabric.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will there be any ammunition released this fall for sporting purposes?

A.—Yes, sportsmen may make application to a local ration board from August 15 to September 30 inclusive for a permit must possess a registered rim fire rifle, for which not more than 100 rim fire cartridges will be allowed, or the registered owner of a shotgun for which 50 shot shells are allowed. If an individual possesses both types of guns, he must make application for both types of ammunition but regardless of how many rim fire rifles and shotguns he owns he is entitled only to 100 cartridges and 50 shot shells. A purchaser with shotguns of two different gauges may take 25 shells for one gauge and 25 for the other. Each permit issued covers only one type of ammunition (rim fire or shot shell) and will be issued accordingly. Applicants must present their gun registration certificates and his ration book or card.

Q.—Must an automobile be tagged by the dealer when it is placed for sale?

A.—Yes, any dealer who has used passenger motor vehicle for sale must conspicuously display on each such motor vehicle a tag showing the make, model, model year and the serial number, accessories (including any spare tire and tube) and the proposed sale price thereof, which shall not exceed the maximum price permitted by this new order. Selling prices for automobiles may be obtained from your nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office.

Q.—Are extra men employed during the threshing season to be allowed rations to cover their meals?

A.—Transient help employed for less than two weeks may obtain extra rations to cover meals served them while employed in harvesting. If the temporary help will be employed at one place for more than two weeks, it will not be necessary to make an application for transient laborer coupons because the worker will have his own ration book which may be used by the farmer. To obtain rations for temporary workers, who will be staying less than two weeks, the farmer must apply to his local ration board giving his own name, address, ration book number, details of work to be done by temporary helpers, number of men to be employed, an estimate of the number of days the work will last, number of meals to be served per day and estimated total number of meals during the period of employment. The farmer must also state whether he makes his own butter or not. The necessary coupons will be mailed to the farmer by the local ration board when this information is received.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

SHIPPING AGREEMENT

A United Nations shipping agreement by which the powers offer their shipping for all tasks leading to completion of the war in Europe and the Pacific and the supply of liberated nations has been drawn up at a recent London conference, it is announced by the department of external affairs at Ottawa.

It Pays To Believe In Signs

At least two Canadian soldiers believe that this sign carries some good advice. They are digging slit trenches in front of their tent in Normandy. The slit trench has been found to afford best protection in the event of attack.

Commonwealth Citizen

Air Force Boys Have Opportunity Of Meeting Other Men Of The Empire

A New Zealander of 21, with four years of sea service in the war, has offered himself as a recruit to the Canadian army. In 1940 he joined the Royal Navy, transferred later to his own country's navy from which he was medically discharged last April. Then followed a spell of sea-going as a merchant seaman with crossings with the invasion fleet between England and France. Now he seeks to be a soldier with the Canadians.

As a New Zealander, this young man seems to have no small experience of what it means also to be a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. The Empire apparently means something tangible enough to him, and he probably is no less loyal a New Zealander for all that.

But it is not only this young man from "down under" who has gained some practical knowledge of what it can mean to be a British subject in the widest sense of the term. Particularly in the air force overseas has this larger acquaintance with other men of the Empire an opportunity to grow. Here a young Canadian may be of an air crew with an Australian, an Englishman, a South African or a Welshman. Something of lasting value can hardly help but come from such ultimate companionship and the understanding that arises from it.

An indication of this comes most recently from a young flying officer returned on leave to Montreal after more than two years attached to the R.A.F. overseas. "Over there," he says, "nationalities lose their identity. We all forget our old garments and lay aside any thoughts on racial lines." And as a young French Canadian he has no cause to complain of his acceptance among his peers or his superior officers. This is something of what it should mean to be, as a Canadian, a New Zealander, Englishman, Scotsman, or what you will, a citizen within the larger membership of the British Commonwealth of Nations—Ottawa Citizen.

Rescue Boat

New Type Can Be Dropped From Plane By Parachute

A new type of rescue boat, sturdy enough to be dropped from a plane by parachute from high altitudes, has been developed by Higgins Industries, Inc., of New Orleans, and officials said "several hundred" are being rushed to completion. They said the boats can be dropped fully equipped to ship or plane survivors or castaways. The boats carry clothing, blood plasma, smoke signals and rockets to discharge buoy lines.

GOING TO CHINA

FLT. LT. George "Buz" Beurling, Canada's top fighter ace whose resignation from the R.C.A.F. has been accepted, says he expects to leave Montreal in mid-October for the Far East in search of aerial combat with the Japanese. Beurling would not say what air force he expects to be with, although he had previously offered his services to the Chinese Air Force.

High Quality Wheat

Developed By Russians Yields Four Harvests From One Sowing

The Russians have developed a perennial wheat, according to a Moscow cable to the CBC from Raymond Davies, a Canadian correspondent. Davies said the wheat is described as one of the most important developments in agriculture in many centuries and that "it may alter the methods of earning a living for many millions of people, including, perhaps, Canadian farmers."

The correspondent said the wheat yields four harvests within two years from the one sowing and under Russian conditions similar to those in Saskatchewan and Alberta has produced 30 to 40 bushels an acre. He added that it is rust and drought resistant and of high quality.

WAITING FOR A TRAIN

A Nazi was waiting for a train at a Dutch station. He left to wash his hands and when he returned he found his bag gone. The Dutch worker to whom he complained replied: "In Cologne I left my bag at the station to wash my hands. When I returned the station was gone."

ROMANCE—

The spotlight has taken a fancy to Private Rosaline Matthews of Canadian Women's Army Corps, and this time it's warming up to play her August wedding to Pte. Arthur Armitage, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. After their wedding the couple will spend a few days at the groom's summer home near Halifax before visiting the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews, Blackmarsh Road, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Pte. Matthews enlisted in July, 1943 and during her basic training in Kitchener, Ont., was chosen to represent her native Newfoundland in the color party of the CWAC anniversary parade. Here she was photographed by a Paramount News cameraman and subsequently appeared on the screen in theatres across the Dominion.

Adventure had not deserted Pte. Matthews. When she was still in Kitchener she was one of a group invited to tea by Lieutenant Governor Matthews of Ontario.

A sister, LAW Alice is serving with the air force in Newfoundland, and a brother, Flight Sergeant Lloyd Matthews, was killed in action with the R.C.A.F.

RECRUIT—

William Shakespeare has inspired students, provided words for lovers, dramatized treacheries, and now he seems to have joined the Recruiting Staff of the CWAC. It all happened when a prospective recruit for the CWAC, reported for service. Asked in the usual way why she had joined, Hamlet inspired her answer, "These times are out of joint. Oh cursed spite that I was ever born to set it right." Then she added, "The Army needs me." Shakespeare was credited with one recruit.

ITALY—

The CWACs in Italy are not only pioneers but they are on the way to becoming real campaigners. "You will be treated as ordinary soldiers," they were told by the commandant of the barracks in which they are quartered (a former seven room apartment). The two sergeants in the group are full-fledged members of the headquarters' sergeant's mess, while the other ranks are providing something of a diversion at meal-times in the men's mess.

SMITHS—

Regina CWACs became definitely Smith conscious when three of the "Smith girls" joined the Army. Two of them were twins, but the third little Smith was not even remotely related. However, the twin Smiths started taking a sisterly interest in their namesake and by the time the girls had finished their basic, their friends were calling them the "Smith Triplets." Constance and Gwendolyn are the twins and their home is in Kindersley, Sask. The third Smith is Norma and her home is in North Portal, Sask.

SPORTS—

Medals are won in various ways, but probably L-Cpl. Thelma Clyde and Pte. Irene Hand, C.W.A.C., are the first members of the Canadian Army to carry home medals for their changing. These CWACs are stationed in Military District No. 10 (Winnipeg), and at the Army Sports

MUFFINS CAN HELP KEEP YOU REGULAR

Yes—by eating several delicious KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN muffins every day and drinking plenty of water, you can help prevent constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet!

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans 3/4 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in London, Canada. Your grocer has it, in 2 convenient sizes.

New Use For Seaweed

Textile Has Been Produced By Research Association In Scotland

The Scottish Seaweed Research Association has been formed by industrialists and chemists to explore the practicability of making use of the seaweed that is collected around the rocks of parts of the western coast of Scotland. High hopes are entertained for success. Although seaweed is about 85 per cent. salt water, the rest is rich in a product named algin.

From this algin it has been found possible to produce a material from which a sturdy textile is made. Not only that, but algin seems to have some of the qualities of plastics, and from it there can also be made material suitable for dental plates, transparent paper, varnishes and a host of other things, another product that is mentioned being poultry feed.

Factories for reducing the seaweed to algin and its products are to be established in the areas where this type of seaweed is found, and it is believed that when one or two chemical problems have been solved, a valuable new industry will be created for the crofters of Scotland.

Leaving The Country

Relatives Of Leading Nazis Taking Positions In Neutral Countries

A large number of relatives of leading Nazis are being permitted to go abroad to take up positions in embassies and consulates in neutral countries.

Two Ribbentrop nephews have arrived at the Embassy in Japan, though they have no diplomatic experience. Several Goering relatives, including a niece of his wife, have been given posts in consulates in Spain and Portugal. Goebbels family connections have gone to secure posts in Stockholm—London Daily Sketch.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

LANGUAGE

Think all you speak; but speak not all you think.
Thoughts are your own; your words are so no more.

—Henry DeLaune.

Language is the armory of the human mind; and at once contains the trophies of its past and the weapons of its future conquests.—Coleridge.

We infer the spirit of the nation in great measure from the language, which is a sort of monument to which each forcible individual in a course of many hundred years has contributed a stone.—Emerson.

Language is the only instrument of science, and words are but the signs of ideas.—Samuel Johnson.

Words are not always the auxiliaries of Truth. The spirit, and not the letter, performs the vital functions of Truth and Love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The deepest truths are best read between the lines, and, for the most part, refuse to be written.—A Bronson Alcott.

LAND VALUES

For Canada as a whole, there has been an over-all increase of 12 per cent. in land values since 1939, but the change has varied from year to year. In 1940, compared with 1939, the increase was 4.2 per cent. In 1942, compared with 1941, the increase was 4 per cent. In 1943, the rise was 7.8 per cent. over 1942.

FOUR POWER CONFERENCE PROCEEDING IN UNITED STATES TO DEVELOP A PEACE PLAN

WASHINGTON.—Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko flew in from Moscow Sunday bringing Russia's plans for a post-war world organization to preserve peace. He expressed conviction that in the four-power meetings his country, Britain, the United States and China can mesh their differing plans into a single master blueprint.

"I am most optimistic about the success of the coming conferences," he told reporters at National Airport where his plane, marked with the Red Star of Soviet military forces, brought him and his delegation in to a military reception.

His optimism is shared by both the undersecretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius, the United States delegate, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British representative, who arrived a week ago. But it is potentially more significant because it apparently means that Gromyko knows of no points in Soviet world security plans on which there cannot be agreement with Britain, the United States and China.

Dr. Wellington Koo, the Chinese representative, is not due for another week. He will meet Mr. Stettinius and Sir Alexander when they conclude their talks with Gromyko.

These are the main points on which the United States, Britain and Russia appear to agree as they prepare to go into the conference at Dumbarton Oaks:

1. An executive council, including the Big Four—Britain, China, the United States and Russia.
2. A United Nations assembly.
3. A world court.
4. Machinery for mediation and conciliation of disputes not subject to legal decisions.
5. Provision for maintenance of adequate force to restrain aggression and speedy use of force when such a decision is taken.
6. A measure of regional responsibility for keeping peace under the world organization.
7. Separation of war-end problems, such as definition of boundaries, from the establishment of the peace agency.
8. Primary responsibility for enforcing peace to rest upon the larger powers which have the force available. Britain and the United States are also anxious that the small powers play an appropriate role and have their say. Russia's view on this point is not yet clear.

LUXURY AIR LINER

Aviation Is Expected To Make Strides In The Future

WINNIPEG.—Capt. K. J. G. Bartlett of London, England, director of Bristol Airplane Company, said in an interview, aviation would undoubtedly make strides in the future but advised that undue promises and dreams for air travel were unwise. "We are working on a 130-ton luxury job that will make an overnight trip from London to Montreal and London to New York," he said. "We can't say how expensive it will be comparable to the cost of a trip of that distance aboard a luxury liner."

INCREASE ACREAGE

United States Will Plant More Wheat For Next Year

WASHINGTON.—The United States war food administration announced wheat acreage goals for 1945 as approximately 68,500,000 acres, or 1,500,000 acres more than that planted for harvest this year.

The combined 1945 state goals indicate an increase of 13,500,000 acres over the number planted for harvest in 1943. Marvin Jones, war food administrator, announced.

NEED MORE HELP

Poles Fighting Germans In Warsaw Running Short Of Arms

LONDON.—Polish underground forces fighting the Germans inside Warsaw recently received a small quantity of arms and ammunition from their Allies in the west, enabling them to continue resistance. Polish authorities in London said this assistance still is on an extremely small scale, however, and Poles here expressed fear Gen. Bors' troops may be wiped out.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE THAT CANADA HAS DESIGNED AND PRODUCED NEW WAR WEAPON

OTTAWA.—Canada has designed and produced a powerful new weapon of war—a 25-pounder, full-tracked, self-propelled gun mount known as the "Sexton"—which already is displaying its power in France. Munitions Minister Howe announced.

Built only in Canada, this new "secret weapon" already has been made in sufficient quantities to supply the Canadian army and now is being made for the British army, he said. It has been in action in Normandy and perhaps in the new invasion in southern France.

The Sexton travels on tracks, serves as an artillery unit in armored formations and also is used as a tank buster.

A modification of the Canadian-designed Ram tank, it carries the deadly 25-pounder gun. It has the same speed and manoeuvrability as the fastest Allied tanks and fires with "great effect" at high speed and long range.

The gun for the new mount is virtually the same as the 25-pounder which stopped Rommel at El Alamein and has been used with great effectiveness in all subsequent British and Canadian engagements. On the Sexton mounting, the mobility and usefulness of the 25-pounder have been more than trebled.

Operated as a single unit, it dispenses with the standard artillery tractor and trailer, and carries with in itself its crew of six and its ammunition. Its great speed and climbing power are supplied by an air-cooled aviation engine situated at the rear. Its gun fires from a frontal position, can be elevated 40 degrees and depressed nine degrees below the horizontal.

IN PEACE TIME

Would Remove All Japanese From British Columbia

KAMLOOPS, B.C.—John Bracken national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, told a public meeting here that his party's policy calls for the removal of all Japanese from British Columbia.

Present wartime regulations prohibit Japanese from living less than 100 miles from the Pacific coast. Mr. Bracken added, and the Progressive Conservative policy is that even in peace time this protective zone would be increased to 500 miles.

It is estimated that rats destroy as much food every year as 200,000 farmers can produce.

DAMAGED AGAIN

Windows In Buckingham Palace Blown Out By Bomb Bombs

LONDON.—Flying bombs have blown out windows in Buckingham Palace and have damaged two other landmarks—Dr. Samuel Johnson's house and Butchers' hall, it was disclosed.

The king and the remainder of the royal family were absent when a bomb fell less than a half-mile from the palace early one morning.

A small summer house on the royal grounds was wrecked, and the tennis court on which the king used to play before the war was ruined.

FARM BOARD IS EXPECTED TO FUNCTION ON BEHALF OF GOVERNMENT AFTER THE WAR

WORK ADVANCED

On The Dominion-Provincial Conference Which Is Now Postponed

OTTAWA.—Preparations for the Dominion-Provincial conference, now postponed until after the next federal election, will continue, it was learned here.

For some months, D. A. Skelton, an official of the Bank of Canada, acting as secretary for the conference, has been working on an agenda and on assembling statistical and other information considered necessary as a basis of discussion for a re-arrangement of Dominion-Provincial financial and other relations after the war.

The work is believed to be fairly well advanced, but a considerable amount remains to be done.

His was the leading plane in the tremendous air assault which preceded and coincided with this newest attack on Hitler's fortress Europe.

OTTAWA.—Composition of the farm price board has been announced by Agriculture Minister Gardiner with J. G. Taggart, former minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, as chairman.

The board will dispose of a fund of $200,000,000 authorized under an act passed at the last session of parliament. It will have power to buy and sell farm products should prices fall below the level deemed equitable in post-war years, paying for them a fixed price and disposing of them at a loss if necessary.

As announced by Agricultural Minister Gardiner in the house when the act was under discussion, Mr. Taggart, the chairman, is the only permanent member of the three-man board appointed at this stage.

Two officials of the agriculture department, A. M. Shaw, director of marketing and chairman of the agricultural supplies board, and Dr. J. F. Booth, head of the economics branch of the department, are appointed temporary members.

Permanent members will be chosen later when the time approaches at which the board may be called upon to function actively.

Mr. Taggart, throughout most of the war and until defeat of the former Saskatchewan Liberal government last June, performed double duty as a key federal government official and member of a provincial government. He served as chairman of the board, now the most important, and as food administrator under the prices board.

In addition to stepping in to protect farmers from disastrous price drops the new board is expected to function on behalf of the government after the war in any bulk sales of food products made to other countries. This type of business is handled by various boards in the department, such as the meat board, established under special wartime orders.

Since Canada's entry into the war, more than 100,000,000 tons of food, munitions and essential materials have been transported over the North Atlantic.

WIDE RANGE OF ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS FOR THE DOMINION-PROVINCIAL MEET

OTTAWA.—Practically the whole range of economic, financial and social problems of Canada will be included in the draft agenda for the Dominion-provincial conference submitted to the provincial governments by Defence Minister Ralston as acting prime minister last May 13.

The conference now has been postponed until after the next federal election, Prime Minister King announced in the House of Commons.

Only two provinces, Quebec and Manitoba, made any suggestions for alterations or additions to the draft agenda in response to Col. Ralston's letter.

In the draft agenda the purpose of the meeting was stated as:

1. To appraise in so far as for-seable what the post-war situation, problems and needs of Canada will be.

2. To consider the broad lines of governmental policy and action which would be appropriate to assist in meeting these problems and needs.

3. To recommend the most effective allocation of responsibility among governments in Canada for carrying out policies generally agreed on as desirable, with particular attention to the financial and jurisdictional aspects.

As principles underlying these practical objectives the agenda stated the goal of all governments was to establish conditions to enable the people to attain as high a standard of living and as great a degree of security as resources would permit.

Means of attaining full employment and a high national income. It was proposed, would be discussed under two headings, encouragement of private industry and public improvements.

The subject of encouragement to private industry was broken down into:

1. Methods of aiding in production and cost reduction such as tax and tariff changes, research, credits, checks on inflation, subsidies;
2. Methods of promoting and stabilizing markets such as export credits, floor prices, market promotion services, government purchases, income subsidies, social service programs, implementation of international agreements on labor and regulation of business, prices and production.

Under the heading of public improvements it was proposed to discuss transportation, conservation and development of natural resources, social and welfare amenities such as hospitals and improvement of machinery for co-ordination of Dominion and provincial works programs such as the Dominion-provincial joint planning board proposed by Premier Drew in letters to Mr. King.

FINAL PAYMENT OF 1943 INCOME TAX DUE 31st AUGUST, 1944

Inasmuch as the Income Tax payments that fell due on 30th April last were postponed to 31st August, this will remind you that any balance due must be remitted to your District Inspector of Income Tax on or before 31st August, 1944 to avoid penalty. To be sure that the payments are correctly credited to your account, your remittance should be accompanied by a letter showing clearly your full name and address and stating that the payment is to be applied to your 1943 income tax.

That Fabulous Shipbuilder
A young lady who was to christen one of the ships built by the famous hurry-up shipbuilder, Henry Kaiser, arrived at the yards and was greeted by Kaiser, who escorted her to a gaily bedecked platform and handed her the appropriate bottle. Considerably mystified, since the only sign of a vessel was a keel far below her, the young lady turned to her host, asking where the ship might be. "Hurry up," Kaiser shouted; "get swinging!"—Wall Street Journal.

If you dig two inches deeper, I am going to charge you with desertion!'"—Coronet.

London Standard Has Praise For Canada In The War

"The Dominion of Canada has reached full stature among the great nations of the world," said a London Evening Standard editorial, devoted to the part the Canadians are playing in the war and noting that the creation of the 1st Canadian Army "tells the climax of an historic process."

"It is difficult to recount our debt to Canada; harder still to express our gratitude," the Standard said. "The heroism of her troops in the last war is legendary; her present sons are their worthy successors."

"In the days of our darkness there came to us from Canada not only men but goods—a free and unconditional gift. In this noble generosity lay the germ of lease-lend. . . . The R.C.A.F. proved it has all the skill and audacity the world expected of it."

"But it is of her sons in Caen we are thinking. . . . How on the anniversary of a decisive onslaught launched by their fathers at Amiens against the Kaiser's armies they entered into their heritage."

Bermuda Has Been Under British Rule For 335 Years

Three hundred and thirty-five years ago—in July, 1609—the island of Bermuda came under British rule. A new chapter in Bermuda's long history opened in this war, with its rapid transition from a pleasure resort to a fortress and important U.S. military, naval and air base.

Great Day For Russia

Occupation Of Brest Litovsk Has Wiped Out Old Stalin

Occupation of the Polish town of Brest Litovsk by the victorious Russians wipes a stain from the Soviet escutcheon. The Russians suffered a severe defeat there in August 1915 at the hands of the Germans. But it was not the military defeat that disgraced the Russians in the last war. It was at Brest Litovsk on March 3, 1918 that the Lenin government signed a treaty of peace with Germany, contrary to Russia's agreement with her Allies, and left them to fight Germany on one front alone. Four months before that, Lenin and Trotsky overthrew the short-lived Kerensky government and pledged themselves to secure peace by means of a separate treaty with Germany. The conference opened at Brest Litovsk in December, Trotsky taking part in the deliberations. After prolonged negotiations the separate peace treaty was signed on March 3, the net result of which was that Russia gave up great tracts of country to Germany, Austria and Turkey, the Russian frontiers being practically what they were 300 years before.

It would be condign justice if Stalin were to make the Germans come back to Brest Litovsk and sign the next treaty of peace, but we guess the Soviet chieftain will derive a grimmer satisfaction from sitting in the Reichschancellery in Berlin and telling them to accept his terms and signs on the dotted line.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

To Relieve Shortage

First Time In History Canada Has Published The Bible

W. H. Clarke, manager of the Oxford University Press in Canada, said 25,000 copies of the Bible, being printed at the plant in Toronto have been shipped to the United States to help relieve the "tremendous" Bible shortage.

The first copy of the Bible printed on Canadian paper by Canadian printers and bound with Canadian leather was presented to Prime Minister King last April.

The other 5,000 copies of the run, he said, are being sold in Canada "as fast as they are finished."

It is the first time in history a Bible has been published in Canada. The plates were shipped from England.

To Stay In Industry

Numerous Jobs For Women Will Be Open After War

Margaret Hickey, new president of the United States National Federation of Business and Professional Women and chairman of the Women's Policy Committee of the War Manpower Commission, says women are in industry to stay.

"Women have created the same place for themselves in industry in this war that they did in the business world in the last war," she said just after her election to head 80,000 of the United States leading women in business and the professions. "A lot of them have come to like it and want to stay in. They have proved themselves useful and made a place for themselves. Industry is adapting itself to the women and their working conditions are growing steadily better. And after the war hundreds of thousands of women will have to earn money."

"After the defeat of Japan we shall move into a replenishment period when we shall be replacing the houses we have not built, the household equipment, shoes, tools and many other things we have not been making. In that great industrial period there will be a great deal of work for women."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ISRAEL'S FIRST KING

Golden text: Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king. I Peter 2:17.
Lesson: I Samuel, Chapters 9, 10, 11.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 72:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

Saul Revealed to Samuel as the Coming King. I Samuel 9:15-17. "Now Jehovah had revealed unto Samuel" a day before Saul came to him to inquire where his father's lost asses were. In the Hebrew the verb "revealed" as the margin of the Bible explains, means literally "uncovered the ear of," and signified the Divine Spirit's announcement to the human spirit. The revelation that Samuel received was that a man of the tribe of Benjamin would come to him whom he was to anoint king over Israel, and who would free the people from the Philistines. When Samuel saw Saul he felt assured that Saul was the man chosen of God to be the leader of his people.

The Meeting of Samuel and Saul. I Samuel 9:18-21. Saul found Samuel on his way to the high place where he was to offer sacrifice. Samuel at once set the young man's mind at rest regarding the lost animals, and then awakened great expectations in Saul's heart by adding, "For whom is all that is desirable in Israel? Is it not for thee and for thy father's house?" Saul's extravagant expression of humility given in answer was in accordance with Eastern custom, but, as Alexander Whyte observes, it seems to be the language of a man whose heart is really touched for the time being with divine grace, it was genuine humility.

Saul Chosen by Lot at Mizpah. I Samuel 10:17-24. When Saul's name was selected, he could not be found at first. When he was brought from his hiding place among the baggage he stood higher than any of the people from his shoulders and upward. And all the people shouted, Long live the King.

Samuel's Charter. I Samuel 10:25, 26. Samuel drew up a sort of charter, which probably declared what were the powers and restrictions of the king, and what was his relation to the people and to Jehovah. In substance, at any rate, it is supposed to resemble the law of the king in Dt. 17:14-20. This was "laid up before Jehovah," which seems to mean that it was written in a book and the book was placed in the ark with the copy of "the book of the law," Dt. 17:18-20; 31:26.

Approximately one-half minute is required for a fly to recover fully from exposure to bright, glaring lights.

Scraps Of Paper

— By —
MADGE ELWOOD

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"A woman cannot be of use to the Army," Pat Bryan repeated and looked at Sally. "I don't see why you bothered to drive over. I don't want any woman around my camp."

"But," Sally protested, "I want to serve my country."

"Go home, then. I've enough troubles. The general and his staff are arriving to inspect the camp. I'm supposed to serve them a special dinner at eight. But some clerk mixed up my order and, instead of supplies, sent me a truck load of typewriting paper. I've got to locate some food. It's going to be almost impossible in this deserted country."

"Maybe I can help. I could drive back to the farm—"

"Not enough time," Pat shook his head. No, a farmer's daughter could not help a lieutenant of field artillery, even though he had once thought he loved her. He boasted, "This is a new camp. It may not even be made permanent, but I'm sure the general will like it. I've got a few chickens, even, and a cow—so the soldiers can have fresh eggs and milk."

"You could use those chickens for dinner," Sally interrupted.

"Certainly not!" Pat glared. "Those chickens are supposed to impress the general."

Sally sighed and left his office. Pat, she thought, had not changed during his years of absence. He had forgotten that he loved her, but he still wanted her approval. She stared for a moment at the flag. A bugle sounded for retreat. A soldier appeared out of the gathering dusk and lowered the flag for the night. Sally laid her hand over her heart. It wasn't a theatrical gesture. She wanted to serve her country and Pat! There must be something a girl could do.

A rooster crowed somewhere in the distance. It was nearly six. The dimple showed in Sally's cheek.

The mess sergeant was delighted at her suggestion to help, though he added gloomily, "Not that it'll do much good, ma'am. You can't cook typewriting paper and there's nothing else except some shum and hard-tack. We let the supplies get mighty low 'cause we heard this camp was going to be abandoned."

"Dandelion greens," said Sally, "make a splendid vegetable. There are wild berries near the creek. You have enough potatoes to mash, and with fried chicken..."

"No, no!" cut in the sergeant. "I wouldn't dare. The lieutenant's got too many ideas about those chickens. The general has offered a prize for the best suggestion to camouflage a camp in the corps area and the lieutenant is interested in winning that prize. Chickens do sorta make a camp look like a farm."

"That's right," Sally murmured. "Well, you send some soldiers out to get the dandelions and berries. I'll see about the chickens."

It was almost dark. Sally walked over to the chicken pen. The young white Leghorns were already roosting in their man-made trees. The rooster was asleep with his head beneath his wing. Sally smiled. It was like a picture in black and white. Somewhere nearby a bugler practised a few notes. The rooster raised his head and squawked. Sally looked thoughtfully at him. The general and his staff were scheduled to leave after an early breakfast.

One hour passed—two, and then Sally saw the glimmer of the headlights of the car from corps area headquarters. The long narrow table was covered with two sheets. There was an attractive centrepiece of wild flowers in a large tin can that gleamed like silver in the dim light. Pat and the general were standing by the chicken pen when the bugler sounded a delayed mess call. The white Leghorns were roosting in their man-made trees. The rooster was asleep with his head beneath his wing. It was like a study in black and white. The general murmured, "Reminds me of my boyhood. I was raised on a farm. A rooster used to wake me up every morning. I always wanted to wring his neck."

Pat frowned. This wasn't the praise he had expected. He sighed as he led his important visitors to the mess hall. What had the mess sergeant been able to get for this faithful meal? Pat had been too busy to visit the kitchen.

But the meal was perfect. There was chicken, fried to a deep and succulent brown, the greens had a tangy taste, there was rich gravy with the potatoes, and the fresh berries were delicious with thick cream. Pat, however, could not eat. As soon as the meal was over he hurried to the chicken pen. The white Leghorns were still asleep. The mess sergeant had been a resourceful soldier.

Pat went to the kitchen to commend the mess sergeant. The general was there on the same errand and Sally, to Pat's surprise, was standing near the stove. He frowned at her before speaking to the sergeant. "A splendid meal."

"Perfect," said the general. "I'm glad to see that you recognize the importance of a feminine touch."

"Yes, sir," a good soldier does not express his own opinions.

"In fact," the general continued, "you have an excellent camp. It'd be perfect if it were not for that rooster."

"Yes, sir." But the rooster did not crow when the first glimmers of light streaked the sky. Pat did not understand. He hurried to the chicken pen. The white Leghorns were still roosting in the artificial trees. The rooster was asleep with his head beneath his wing and with reason. Pat's chickens now were fashioned of paper, typewriting paper cut into clever shapes. The general had driven past the pen on leaving camp. What would he say?

The answer soon came in the mail: "Your camp has been awarded the prize of a new flag for the best and simplest means of camouflage, paper and scissors always being available." So, thought Pat, a farmer's daughter had helped a lieutenant after all.

Ranks As Heroine

Young Nurse Killed While Rescuing Patients From Bombed Hospital

Eileen Crouch, 21-year-old nurse, even in these times and in Britain, ranks as a heroine.

Eileen lost her mother and father in the big blitz and the hospital in which she worked had already been hit twice by bombs, once during the big blitz and once by a buzz-bomb. Then another buzz-bomb hit the place, setting fire to the dispensary and another wing. Eileen remained in the building and for five solid hours helped to remove patients. Then the roof fell in and she was killed.

REAL ELEGANCE

"The Ladies' and Gentlemen's Manual of Elegance, Fashion and True Politeness," an English etiquette book of 1850, advises, "Never cut bread less than an inch and a half thick. Thin bread is plebeian."

Enemy Of Insects

Toad May Be Ugly But It Is Very Useful

"Ugly as a toad," may be a common expression and perhaps to some descriptive of this little animal. Ugly as it may be, however, we bespeak the utmost consideration of its welfare. It is a true friend of mankind and the common toad should be welcomed on the farm or around the many victory gardens which dot the landscape today.

This creature is the sworn enemy of many injurious insects which prey upon trees and garden produce. Among these pests are the plum and apple curculion, potato beetle, tent caterpillar, cankerworm and gipsy and brown-tailed moth caterpillars. According to the U.S. department of agriculture, about 98 per cent. of the toad's food is of animal origin, and more than 60 per cent. consists of harmful insects.—Our Dumb Animals.

Honey Increase

Greatest Expansion Is Shown In The Prairie Provinces

According to the revised estimates, honey production in Canada in 1943 amounted to 39,492,100 lb., an increase of 11,413,400 lb. or 40.8 per cent. over the 1942 crop of 28,048,700 lb. The increase was due to a record number of colonies in 1943, combined with a higher average yield which, in spite of adverse weather conditions, was 88 lb. per colony as compared with 66 lb. per colony in 1942.

There were 34,250 beekeepers in Canada in 1943, an increase of 5,820 or 20.5 per cent. from the 28,430 in 1942. The number of colonies also showed an increase with 449,650 colonies in 1943 as against 427,050 in 1942—an increase of 22,600 or 5.3 per cent. The greatest expansion took place in the Prairie Provinces, especially in Alberta where there were twice as many beekeepers in 1943 as in 1942, with 42,800 colonies as compared with 27,500 in 1942.

Prospects for the 1944 crop are reasonably satisfactory. Winter-killing on the whole was not serious and losses have been made up of package bees, and a further expansion in the numbers of beekeepers and colonies. Indications are that the numbers of colonies have been increased by about seven per cent. With favourable weather, an average or better than average crop may be expected.

Post-War Improvements

Soft Butter Just One Problem Solved By Research

War-time research at the direction of the Army Quartermaster Corps, New York, will be reflected in better post-war living with such improvements as pre-mixed cereals, waterproof matches and butter that won't melt except under high temperatures, a survey indicated.

Only a few of the conveniences that will come out of war research are insecticides sprayed from metal bombs that will destroy mosquitoes and other pests in a few seconds, cereals pre-mixed with sugar and milk and needing only water to make them palatable, and glassware that is unbreakable.

RUSSIANS RELEASED

Turkish authorities have released from prison two Russian citizens, employed by the Soviet consulate at Istanbul, who were sentenced to 16 years and eight months imprisonment in 1942 after a bomb attempt on the life of German Ambassador Franz von Papen.

Lady Eaton Loans Home

Eaton Hall, home of Lady Eaton, at King, Ont., near Toronto, has been loaned to the Royal Canadian navy for use as a convalescent home for officers and ratings who are expected to return to active service. Under the direction of Surgeon Lieut.-Cmdr. Blair McLean, R.C.N.V.R., of Edmonton, Alta., care will be provided for from 75 to 100 patients. The location offers opportunities for swimming, boating, hiking, tennis and other outdoor recreation.

Live Normal Lives

Daughters Of Princess Juliana Happy In Their Ottawa Home

Irene, second daughter of Princess Juliana, of the Netherlands, is five years old.

Though the little princess lived through a series of excitements in the first year of her life, including her evacuation in a basket to England in May, 1940, and a trip on a Netherlands destroyer with her mother and sister Beatrix, across the Atlantic to Canada, the children of the House of Orange have since their arrival in this country been living quietly and undisturbed in their Ottawa home. A third princess, Margriet Franciscus, was born there, one and a half years ago.

The two older children go to school in the neighborhood, speak English fluently and have no realization of their high position in their homeland. Among their Canadian playmates the blonde little girls from Holland are happy and carefree as children should be.

Though they are not here to stay, because one day they will return to their own country when the war is over and Holland is free again, the years the Dutch Royal family spent in Canada have strengthened ties between this country and the people of the Netherlands.

Praise For Canada

London Paper Says Dominion Now One Of Great Nations

"The Dominion of Canada has reached full stature among the great nations of the world," said an Evening Standard editorial, devoted to the part the Canadians are playing in the war, and noting that the creation of the 1st Canadian army "tells the climax of an historic process."

"It is difficult to recount our debt to Canada; harder still to express our gratitude," the London Standard said. "The heroism of her troops in the last war is legendary; her present sons are their worthy successors."

"In the days of our darkness there came to us from Canada not only men but goods—a free and unconditional gift. In this noble generosity lay the germ of peace-land... The R.C.A.F. proved it has all the skill and audacity the world expected of it. It is of her sons in Caen we are thinking... how on the anniversary of a decisive onslaught launched by their fathers at Amiens against the Kaiser's armies they are entering into their heritage."

Wheat For Overseas

Substantial Reserve Stocks On Hand At End Of July

Canada would seem to be in a position to maintain exports of wheat in the 1944-45 crop year at a level approximating that of the 1943-44 season and still finish with substantial reserve stocks on hand at the end of July, 1945, states the Monthly Review of the Wheat Situation. The direction of export shipments in the new season may show some change with larger amounts going overseas and less to the United States, but the current appraisal of the statistical position of Canadian wheat points to the availability of at least 350,000,000 bushels for export in 1944-45 without reducing the carry-over to an undesirable level before the 1945 wheat crop is harvested.

SMILE AWHILE

Officer (to Sweet Young Thing)—Let me see your driving license, Miss.

Sweet Young Thing—Well, as a matter of fact, officer, I don't happen to have it with me, but if it will save you any bother, I can assure you it is very much like any other old driving license.

A man was giving some advice to his son. At the end of a rather stern lecture, he said: "Now, my boy, you understand perfectly what I mean?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "what it boils down to is this: If I do well it's because of heredity, and if I fail it's my own fault."

Husband (the ingenious type)—I've invented a new type of a woman's handbag, dear.

Wife (skeptically)—What's new about it?

Husband—The zipper's at the bottom. Isn't that where everything usually is when you want it?

Mrs. Newlywed—Henry, I thought you told me that your bank loaned money on notes.

Mr. Newlywed—So it does, dear. Why?

Mrs. Newlywed—Well, it doesn't. I sent the maid down there with a note telling them I wanted to borrow $100 and they wouldn't give it to her.

The students were undergoing examination:

Teacher—What are the two genders?

Junior—Masculine and feminine. The masculine is divided into the temperate and intemperate and the feminine into the torrid and frigid.

"Yes," said the old man. "I be ninety-six tomorrow, and I haven't an enemy in the world."

"A beautiful thought," answered the new vicar.

"Yes, sir," went on the old man, "I've outlived them all."

Polite foreigner, sitting next to much-travelled lady at dinner: "So you climb ze Matterhorn? It was a great foot!"

She: "You mean 'feet'?"

P.F.: "Ah! So you climb it more dan once?"

A woman filling in a form at a food office gave her infant daughter's name as Nadine.

"That's unusual," said the assistant. "Is it French or Russian?"

"Dunno, mum, I'm sure," was the reply. "I got it off a jeep."

"When this vacuum flask is filled it will keep things hot for you indefinitely," remarked the salesman to the tired-looking little man at the counter.

"No, thanks," he replied, retreating hastily. "I married something like that."

"I want a word of advice," the young man remarked to his uncle.

"Well?" said Uncle tersely.

"What is the best way to approach you for a loan?"

"If you are sensitive," replied Uncle, grimly, "you had better write for it. Then when you get my reply just tear it up without reading it."
